

Legal Case Management System

Name of Students: Dalandangan, Nasrullah M.

Section: IT9aL - (8431)

- Short description of the chosen CRUD transaction

The system implements a Case Management module where users can manage legal case records. It allows the user to create new cases by entering details such as case title, client name, case type, status, filing date, and description. All saved cases are displayed in a table where users can read/view the records. Existing cases can be updated to modify information, and unnecessary records can be deleted with confirmation. This CRUD functionality is connected to the main Laravel system and stores data in the database.

- Short description of the authentication feature

The system uses Laravel Breeze to implement authentication. Users can register an account, log in using their credentials, and log out securely. Once authenticated, users can access protected pages such as the dashboard and case management module. Unauthorized users are restricted from accessing these pages and are redirected to the login page. This ensures that only registered users can use the system.

- Short description of the RBAC implementation

The system applies Role-Based Access Control (RBAC) by assigning roles to users, such as Admin and User (Client/Staff). The Admin has full access to the system, including creating, viewing, updating, and deleting case records. Regular users have limited access, such as viewing records or performing restricted actions. Certain pages and buttons (e.g., Edit and Delete) are hidden or disabled for non-admin users. Access to routes and features is controlled based on the user’s role to ensure proper system security.
